Mission Statement

Grace Bible Church provides a location for our parents to meet in a cooperative effort to provide a Christian education for our children. We have opened our doors to others of like mind and beliefs to participate with us utilizing a Home School curriculum from ABEKA.

Grace Bible Home School Academy is not a school, nor is it sanctioned by the State of WV or Greenbrier County. Our aim is not to compete with the public education system of the State of West Virginia nor any other educational entity.

We are a group of parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles bonded together teaching our children those things we believe will better prepare our children to become productive members of society. Our mission as a group is to have a direct impact on what our children learn while instilling the values we feel will prepare them for the future. We provide a Christian foundation, promoting scriptural context for all aspects of life. Grace Bible Home School Academy does not intend to replace parents, but to partner with parents of like mind in their children's educational goals.

We are not professional teachers; we are professional parents following a home school curriculum to ensure we meet all requirements of the State Board of Education for graduation. We enjoy an atmosphere where we freely and openly promote Christian attitudes and precepts. Our parents participate as their schedule permits and generally handle studies on Friday. We endeavor to assist your children navigate the home school curriculum when they are with us.

We recognize that parents have decided to home school their children and would only be partnering with us in a home school co-op environment at Grace Bible Church or another location. We operate differently than the public education system although we encourage attendance to fulfill curriculum demands in preparation for end of year portfolios. We do ask that students complete all assignments to stay current if at home so we can keep everyone on a schedule for graduation. We can provide a proposed schedule should one be needed as we keep records on each child enabling us to do a yearly portfolio as is required. We will also maintain those records as is required by Department of Education.
